Scott County Indiana Business & Industry: Distribution & Logistics

In business, as in real estate, location is everything. Scott County, Indiana is centrally located with an excellent transportation system -- offering unparalleled access to domestic markets and suppliers -- considerably lowering your cost of doing business.

Scott County, Indiana is located in south central Indiana approximately 90 miles south of Indianapolis, 30 miles north of Louisville, Kentucky and 110 miles west of Cincinnati, Ohio -- and we offer some of the most affordable real estate anywhere in the country.

Scott County is located within a 300 mile radius of Chicago, St. Louis, and Nashville. Located on I-65, both Scottsburg and Austin are also served by U.S. 31. I-65 and U.S. Highway 31 provide north/south connections to Indianapolis, Louisville and other Midwestern markets. Matter of fact, over 60% of the population of the country can easily be reached in one day's driving time from Scott County, Indiana.

The converging of three major interstates (I-65, I-64 and I-71) provides the area with the best access to markets across the country. Three rail carriers, CSX, Norfolk Southern and Louisville & Indiana Railroad Company as well as several short lines provide rail service to many of our industrial sites.

The area is located such that access is easily available to three commercial airports in Indianapolis, Louisville, and Cincinnati. Seymour's Freeman Field Airport, with access to I-65 via U.S. 50 and Indiana 11, has two, lighted 5,500-foot runways. The local airport is used for cargo and charter service. Water transportation is also available through Clark Maritime Center, located 30 miles south via I-65 on the Ohio River.

Our economic environment allows businesses to get up and running faster

- Readily available workforce of skilled and underemployed labor
